TWO ELECTION CONTESTS.

W. F. Lyons and N. R. Holcomb Are Dissatisfied.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 13.—W. F. Lyons, who made the race for Senator in the Seventh District, the south half of Jackson County, has announced definitely that he will contest for a seat in the Senate. N. R. Holcomb, the Democratio nominee in the north district, is already making ready to contest the election of Jesse L. Jewell, so that it is probable that every ballot box in Jackson County used in the recent election will be opened.

Democratic ballots which should have been voted in the north district were carried into the south district, and some Democrate voted for Holcomb supposing they were voting for their own candidate, Lyons. As Holcomb was not running in that district, these ballots could not be counted in favor of either Holcomb or Lyons.

This will be an important part of the Lyons contest. He also alleges collusion between the Republican and Democratic under the Republican and Democratic dharges that ballots cast for him were counted for Judge Clarke. He has figured the majority against himself in the city and county at 212 votes.

COLONY OF NEGROES TO LEAVE AMERICA.

Ten Thousand Engaged to Work in the Sugar Plantations of Honolulu.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL. Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 13.-A large colony of Southern negroes will leave in a few weeks for Honolulu to work on the big sugar plantations there. The owners of sugar plantations and mills in Honolulu are short of men, and have written to this section frequently of late with regard to securing a large delegation of Southern laborers. F. A. Montague and J. T. Hanson, who have been working in the interest of the race, have secured conats to transport 10,000 negroes to the sugar country and are now at work forming the colony.

The negroes are to receive free transportation and lucrative work after landing at Honolulu. So far the project is meeting with success. Monday twenty-five white men from Nashville and New Orleans left for Honolulu to work in the sugar mills.

YOUNG MAN ENDED HIS LIFE.

Mattoon, Ill., Nov. 13.—Arthur Kimery, the 19-year-old son of J. H. Kimery, a well-to-do Heoga farmer, was found dying last night in a boarding-house in this city, all the symptoms pointing to poisoning. With his last breath Kimery protested he had taken no fatal drug.

At the inquest, it was developed that Kimery had borrowed $50, issuing a promissory note. The note came due yesterday, and, forseeing disgrace, he purchased a dose of rough-on-rats and swallowed the fatal draft.
